HIGH SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION CLIMAX TO EXPOSITION WEEK

Manual Training, Domestic Science and High School
Work is Displayed

REMARKABLE SHOWING MADE

Adaptability of Pupils to Special Departmental Work Demonstrated-- Commercial and Academic Departments Well Arranged.

What proved to be the most attractive as well as most wonderful display of the entire school exposition week in the Charleroi schools was that Friday afternoon and evening at the high school building. Work done in all departments of high school and in the manual training and domestic science departments was shown in the high school gymnasium. The two grade rooms on the first floor had their exhibits of work also and this added to the attractiveness. On a whole the entire showing was so fine that, as one man long experienced in high school affairs in different states seriously remarked, "It was the best high school demonstration I ever saw." The excellence of the showing was not confined to one or two departments but took in all.

The hours of the display were from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until after nine o'clock at night. During the afternoon scores viewed the demonstration, but in the evening hundreds visited and enjoyed the hundreds. The high school orchestra, directed by Prof. I. T. Daniel played afternoon and evening.

The gymnasium display was especially well arranged. Probably the manual training department of which Charles N. Helwig is the head and the domestic science department of which Miss Mildred Eddy is the instructor, received the most attention because these departments are the latest innovations. The commercial department, with C. H. Prosho and Miss Zella Franks in charge was especially attractive, and Principal S. R. Grimm had a display of regular high school work on one side of the room that proved by its fine arrangement the great value of a high school education. Everything in the curriculum done by high school students was shown.

In the manual training display was exhibited various kinds of stands, tables, taboretts, book cases and odds and ends in the furniture line built under Mr. Helwig's direction. The mechanical drawing exhibit was an important part of this showing, since nothing could be manufactured in this department until the plans are absolutely perfect. One of the most artistic pieces of work was that of a book case that was manufactured by a boy of 14, which by the way is about the average age of these juvenile wood workers. The arrangement of all was such that easy explanation

GRAND JURY TO HEAR FIVE ROAD PETITIONS

Concrete to be Used in Construction if Idea is Approved

---Three Petitions for Brick Roads to be Considered

Five road petitions will be laid before the grand jury at Washington on Monday. They are all upon a petition of the commissioners and order of court. Three of the petitions are for the proposed improvement of roads, now first placed before the grand jury. Five are for approval of a proposition to improve them with concrete. The action of the commissioners in asking for a concrete construction followed an inspection of such roads in Wayne county, Michigan. These five have already been approved for improvement with brick. The commissioners believe that a concrete road can be constructed for less money and will not cost as much to maintain and will be more durable. The roads that will be considered are as follows:

McPherson-Boyce road beginning at McPherson's mill in Cecil township and extending northeasterly through lands of Hakkman estate, S. N. Hopper, Pittsburg Coal company et al a distance of 12,207.6 feet to the Allegheny county line. The total estimate, including ten per cent for incidentals, paved with brick is $18,187.40.

Avella-Manchester road, beginning at the south end of the brick road constructed by Independence township and extending south 6,600 feet to a state road, the entire distance of Independence township. The total estimate, including ten per cent for incidentals, paved with brick is $27,038.

Avella-Independence road beginning at the southwestern end of the brick road constructed by Independence township and extending southwest 6,600 feet to a point on the lands of J. E. Perrin, the entire distance in Independence township. The total estimated cost, including ten per cent for incidentals, paved with brick is $26,317.50.

The roads which have been approved by the grand jury for construction with brick and for which the commissioners ask permission of the grand jury to substitute concrete, at their own discretion are as follows, they being roads that are to be built this summer:

Beallsville-Fredericktown road a distance of 1.6 miles in Deemston and East Bethlehem townships. The estimated cost of the construction with concrete, including ten per cent for incidentals is $25,241.25 or $15,766 per mile.

Washington Bethany road in Hope-well, Blaine, Donegal and Independence township, distance of one mile. The estimated cost for concrete is $21,402.70 including ten per cent for incidentals.

Centerville road in Centerville borough a distance of 4,400 feet. The estimated cost for concrete is $21,402.70 including ten per cent for incidentals.

Hill Church-Eighty-Four road one mile in Somerset township. The estimated cost is $16,014.25, including ten per cent for incidentals.

Midway-Stuebenville road one mile in Robinson township. The estimated cost for concrete is 15,794.02, including ten percent for incidentals.

Bids have been advertised for these five roads and also for brick for improving them unless concrete is used.

APPARENT ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE MADE BY DOG

Canine Tries to End His Dog Days
On Car Track—Despondence Supposed Cause.

What seemed to be an attempt at deliberate suicide on the Pittsburg-Charleroi car tracks at Fifth street was made by a dog today at noon. The dog, evidently despondent from the fact that one leg was useless, hopped rather painfully toward the car tracks and in full view of people there carefully laid down, resting his head on the rail where the car could not fail to crush it. A policeman aroused the animal and made it leave its place. So far as is known the dog has not taken poison or shot itself and is still living.

BUSINESS BOOMING ON P. & L. E. RAILROAD

According to reports from Dickerson Run, business is booming again on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie and Western Maryland roads, following a depression beginning last November and continuing until the latter part of March. During April there were between 1,100 and 1,200 more loads delivered to the Western Maryland by the P. & L. E. than there was during any month since the road started operations.

LOSS OF LIFE IN LUSITANIA HIGH

Between 1,000 and 1,400 Believed to Have Been Lost in Great Disaster

UNITED STATES IS SHOCKED

From 1,000 to 1,400 persons are believed to have been drowned when the Cunard line passenger steamer, "Lusitania" was torpedoed by a German submarine off the southeast coast of Ireland Friday afternoon. Though there was so far as is known no one on board from Charleroi or vicinity, there were a number from the Pittsburg district, including many well known people. Among other notables on the passenger list were Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Elbert Hubbard and Mrs. Hubbard, Lady Mackworth and Sir Hugh Lee. There were 128 Americans on board.

Full details of the awful disaster have not yet been obtainable, but it is known that the German submarine struck twice and it is said without warning.

At Washington government officials were pronouncedly shocked and the view holds that the situation is the most serious of any that has confronted the American government since the outbreak of the war in Europe.

Spooky Happening Occurs
at Box No. 13 Friday.
Investigations Made

IS THE SECOND IN ONE WEEK

Child Rang in From Sixth Street—
Penitentiary Sentence and Heavy
Fine Provided for Malicious Tampering With Fire Alarm System.

How can a fire alarm be sounded except through some person's instrumentality? That is the puzzle that the firemen and the police attempted to solve at 5 o'clock Friday evening, when there was an alarm from box No. 13, at the corner of Washington avenue and Second street. So far as could be learned no one turned in the alarm, but it was sort of a Topsy affair that just grew. There was no fire either.

The alarm was sounded with people standing close to the alarm box, and not one of them knew of any tampering with the alarm box. Apparently it had not been opened. A quick run was made to the place by the firemen in the motor truck.

A week ago a false alarm was turned in from Sixth street by a child. On previous occasions in the history of the town there have been numerous false alarms turned in maliciously and an attempt in each case has been made to mete out the proper punishment to the offender.

Heavy penalties face the person who maliciously and with wrongful intent sounds a fire alarm. As a matter of fact not only is there a heavy fine provided, but also a penitentiary sentence.

An effort is to be made to run down all offenders for turning in false alarms and to see that they are properly punished. In the past it has been mostly boys who have sounded the alarms, and they are of such an age that punishment is made difficult.

ODD TIBETAN DEVILS

LAMAS DRAW FRIGHTFUL PICTURES OF THE FIENDS.

All Misfortunes, Individual and Natural, Are Ascribed to Them—May, However, Be Fought and Killed With Swords.

F. N. Nicholas, reporting to the Geographical society on lamasery life in Tibet, says:

Fantastic and absurd as lamasism is, there is, with one exception, nothing in Cho that is immoral or repugnant to western ethics. That one exception is the belief in the "Dre" or devils. Somewhere in the lowest hell, Sangee has chained the chief devil, whose name is San-tze or Sat-tze (not very far from Satan). Pictures of this fiend are in every temple. They are made as horrible and revolting as Tibetan ingenuity will permit. Although San-tze is a prisoner, he has under his control legions of lesser devils whose business it is to harass humanity.

Lamasist devils do not tempt men as the Christian devil does. Temptation, according to the lamas, is merely the result of a man turning his back on Sangee. The devils of Tibet injure, molest and destroy mankind. All the misfortunes of life are the work of the "Dre sickness." Business, misfortune and calamities, both individual and national, are caused by devils. They are not only "personal," but also rampant and omnipresent. Almost every lama has seen a devil and has had a personal encounter with him. Devils hate lamas because of their piety, and take especial delight in attacking them. Devils are greatly afraid of guns. During the devotional exercises a Tibetan rifle was fired three times every day to scare the devils. They may be fought and killed with swords. More than one lama has told me how he has slain a devil.

My only unpleasant experiences in the lamasery have resulted from the belief in devils.

Sudenye suddenly ran amuck one afternoon. He stripped himself to the waist, drew his sword and shouted that devils were fighting against Cho. The Kempo and I were compelled to sit on Sudenye's chest for nearly an hour before he returned to a normal state. I promptly discharged him and sent him to Ta Chien Lo. The direct cause of the outbreak was his secret smoking of opium in celebrating New Year's day, but his hallucinations and his peculiar manner are traceable, I believe, to the morbid talk of the lamas about devils and incarnations and Ma-ha-ga, and all the rest of it.

My other servant, Yichi, walked in his sleep one night and fell down stairs. On the following evening, when Kempo dropped in for a little chat around the hopen, Yichi turned to him as to a father confessor and told him how a devil had gripped him by the throat and then had buried him downstairs. The Kempo looked worried and said that the Dre were evidently at their old tricks again and were hovering about the lamasery. He advised me to fire my rifle three times. I did so, and this greatly reassured the Kempo and Yichi.

Later Yichi described to me the devil's appearance. It was precisely the same as the horrid picture of the Sat-tze that is pasted on the wall of the residence of the Living Buddha. Yichi had looked and shuddered at the picture so often that it had at last developed into a nightmare.

Lamasery life is almost certain to get on the nerves of any man who takes it too seriously. If the average American believed as lamas do and lived their sort of life, he would be a candidate for a lunatic asylum within six months.

Cement From Beets.

It has been discovered in France that an excellent cement is one of the byproducts of the manufacture of beet sugar. The scum that forms when the beets are boiled, and which has heretofore been thrown away, consists largely of carbonate of lime and water, and from 70,000 tons of beets treated 4,000 tons of carbonate lime is obtained; to this 1,100 tons of clay is added, the resulting product being 3,162 tons of excellent cement. The scum is pumped into large tanks where it is allowed to dry partially. Finely divided clay is then mixed with it; the mixture is thoroughly amalgamated by heaters for an hour and burned in a rotary kiln. The clinker is then removed and pulverized into cement.

Disease We Catch From Sweaters.

An annoying, although not at all serious disease of the skin, which often attacks persons in the late autumn just after they have put on woolen underclothes or sweaters, is now believed to be caused by some unknown fungus in the wool. The garments doubtless become contaminated by the fungus while laid away for the summer. It is urged that no woolen garment should be put on until it has been thoroughly sterilized, using ordinary soap and hot water and carefully drying.

War Horses to Farmers.

In order to assure the spring seeding, the French war department has decided that horses retired from the army shall be sold only to the farmers. Each buyer is obliged to present a certificate that he is a farmer and needs horses.

FRANCIS JOSEPH VERY SPRY

Aged Emperor of Austria Equal to the Situation. Extreme Though It Must Be Admitted.

Francis Mohar, war correspondent in the Carpathians, in an interview with an officer of high rank, who had had an audience of Emperor Francis Joseph a few days previously in Vienna. The officer said:

"I spent half an hour in the working room of his majesty, and found him to be much more lively and alert than at any time during the last years when I saw him. During the audience the emperor walked up and down the room. He was always noted for his excellent memory, but what I saw in regard to this now was really marvelous. His majesty knows the name of the commander of every regiment, and even now is well informed as to changes taking place in commanders of brigades and regiments.

"He is informed every day as to the work being done by all the war material factories. On the table in his study lies an immense map with small flags indicating the position of the fighting forces.

"Cordial relations exist between his majesty and the heir apparent. The emperor speaks highly of the young king, speaks very highly of the young heir and is extremely proud and fond of him.

"His medical advisers do not willingly consent to his drives out, though he asks them daily to allow him to visit the wounded soldiers in the hospitals. The few visits he has paid to the hospitals have been small victories over the doctors."

LAND FIGHTING NOT CLEAN

Sailors Objected to Work They Did Not Enjoy That Was a Necessary Part of Warfare Ashore.

The American troops who occupied Vera Cruz last year were the second body of our soldiers to enter the city within a century. When it was besieged in the Mexican war, Capt. Robert E. Lee, afterward the commander in chief of the Confederate army, was ordered to throw up breastworks to defend a battery manned by the Jackies of a man-of-war. Lee put the tars into the trenches, and soon had the dirt flying, but the sailors did not labor cheerfully. They resented having to shovel dirt, and their captain remonstrated openly with Lee.

"My men," he said, "do not want mud banks to hide behind; just let them get out and at the enemy."

But Lee would not listen, and the tars sweated away at the shoveling. Presently the Mexicans opened fire at the very point thus protected, and the sailors were glad to seek the shelter of the despised dirt. The ship's captain felt that he owed Lee an apology and made a handsome one.

"Well, Captain Lee," he stammered, "I reckon you were right. I suppose the dirt did save some of my boys from being killed or wounded, but you know we sailors have no use for dirt banks on shipboard. All we want is a clear deck and an open sea. The fact is, captain, I don't like this land fighting, anyway. It isn't clean."—Youth's Companion.

New Naval Auxiliary.

The German soldier, who is informed, is strictly forbidden in these days of a diminishing food supply to make private levies upon poultry yards of conquered civil populations. Chicken and geese especially, for their eggs' sake, must be respected. Only one feathered creature, the carrier pigeon, is fair game. He is outside the law because he is under suspicion of being the enemy's messenger.

It was somewhere in northern France that an officer on his rounds came upon Private Beck, just relieved of sentry duty and in the act of plucking a stately goose. To a discreetly worded question as to the corpus delicti the soldier answered without the quiver of an eyelid:

"Your pardon, lieutenant, that there's a carrier goose, sir."

Tabloid Aeroplanes.

The British aeroplane, quite logically, that the smaller the aeroplane and the faster it can fly the less danger of its being hit by shots fired from earth. So the British airmen favor an unusually small machine, which they call the "tabloid." A very light frame is fitted with an 80-horsepower motor, which will drive the frail machine through the air at the rate of 100 miles an hour. The engine is covered with armor. The aviator seeking to drop a bomb on the enemy approaches his target at a height of 5,000 feet. When straight above it, he turns the nose of his machine straight down and drops at terrific speed. When within 300 feet of the target he drops his bombs as quickly as possible and then shoots skyward at a tremendous pace.—American Boy.

Division of Coal Consumption.

Of the 510,000,000 tons of coal consumed in America in 1914, 125,000,000 tons were used to generate industrial power, 137,000,000 were consumed in our homes and offices for cooking and heating; 87,000,000 were burned in the boilers of locomotives and steamboats while the remaining 71,000,000 tons were consumed in our coke and gas plants.

Old Tree Dead.

One of the oldest trees in America, at Ravenna Park, Seattle, Wash., is dead. It is a fir tree 180 feet tall with a diameter of 20 feet and a circumference of 58 feet. It is supposed to be eighteen hundred or two thousand years old.

And this store was never better prepared to clad your feet in lighter weight and snappier footwear for the new season than right now.

All of the style changes that have come to pass in men's shoes for spring and summer are well represented in our present showing.

New dark tans with "nifty" cloth tops of lighter shade, and gunmetals with fawn tops, all built over new English lasts now popular with young men, are here in all sizes and widths.

More conservative styles are also shown in gunmetals, vicis and tan of soft, pliable quality.

HIGH SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION

In the domestic science department household articles were displayed that were the results of efforts of grade girls under Miss Eddy's supervision. Their work in sewing was shown at one point, their work in canning fruit in another and then on a large table was spread the dainties that were the products of their endeavors in the culinary line. Things that the ordinary man doesn't know the name of were there to tempt and big fluffy looking biscuits that somehow insinuated within a person a desire to taste and enjoy were to be seen. Like in the manual training department remarkable ability in the preparation of these articles was demonstrated.

Works of art, penmanship, type-writing, cartooning, and the intricacies of the bookkeeping profession as taught in first and second year study in the high school commercial department were included in the display arranged by Mr. Presno and his assistant. Adaptability to their work on the part of pupils in this department, as in the departments described in preceding paragraphs was demonstrated here. Daily balances, ledger work and other important factors in bookkeeping were conveniently arranged for examination. Then on the wall was suspended samples of penmanship work and artistic drawings. Several of these were really works of art. The display of typewriting was also splendid, as was the display of other work in the commercial department. Principal Grimm's display as of the regular high school work, which includes Latin, English, German, plain and solid geometry, algebra, history, physical geography, biology, botany and physics. Mr. Grimm had a part of his display arranged on a table, where he demonstrated just why certain studies are carried on. At convenient locations products of high school folk in the academic work was exhibited to splendid advantage.

The high school gymnasium was nicely decorated, with simplicity as the keynote. The rooms of Miss Elma Lutes and Miss Ethel Hawthorne, on the first floor of the high school building were in their arrangement of work similar to those of the grades in the other schools where the school exposition was held on previous days of the week. In both rooms there was a splendid arrangement. Decorative effects were obtained by the use of the pupils drawings and written work.

The high school exhibit was the climax of the school exposition week which was arranged by Superintendent Thomas L. Pollock and the school instructors. In point of visits made and in point of interest taken the week was better than any previously in the history of the schools. Also the displays were superior and probably on the whole better arranged than ever before.

TONIGHT THE LAST OF "OLD COUNTRY STORE"

Selling to be Concluded at Show Grounds Opposite North Charleroi—Everything Now Taken in Goes To Local Hospital.

Beyond a double the biggest attraction at the show ground at the Monessen end of the Monessen-Charleroi bridge this week is "Ye Old Country Store." While it has been most successful in the face of rainy weather, doing some business every night and good business several days, yet today and tonight will be the time of the big velvet operations of "Ye Old Country Store."

As all expenses in connection with this enterprise have been paid through the partnership with the manager and the shows, all that is taken in now will be to the good of the hospital. One of the remarkable and interesting features about this attraction is the fact that the crowds never become tired of it; also those assisting back of the counter return night after night to work.

The best is yet to come with respect to "Ye Old Country Store" as everything will be given away or sold

"SLAVE" SOCIAL HELD AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Philathea class of the First Baptist Sunday school Friday evening entertained at a "slave" social at the church. Interesting diversions were provided, with the climax coming in the auctioneering off of the "slaves" which proved to be comely young women. This was the method taken in preparing to serve luncheon. A good sized crowd was present.
